Music of the American Civil War

Have you ever experienced the transformative power of music, feeling as though you've been swept away to another place and time? Musician and Civil War re-enactor Timothy Krugman takes his audience back to the 19th century with period instruments and melodies in a free public program on Tuesday, January 15, 2019 at 7:15 p.m. The event is hosted by the Oberlin Heritage Center and takes place at Kendal at Oberlin's Heiser Auditorium (600 Kendal Drive). All are welcome.

Krugman, who appears in the uniform of a Union soldier, performs with guitar, banjo and vocals while sharing insights about the role of music on the Civil War battlefield and revealing how the mood of the nation and song shifted over time.

A resident of Elyria, Ohio, Krugman has been a professional musician for more than 50 years and presently specializes in music of the mid 19th century performed on period correct instruments. He is a four-time Minnesota Senior State Champion and a two-time Ohio runner-up Senior State Champion in the Old Time Fiddle category.
