Oberlin Heritage Center Offers Free Admission on Smithsonian Magazine's 10th Annual Museum Day

OBERLIN, OH (September 9, 2014) -- On Saturday, September 27, 2014, the Oberlin Heritage Center will offer free admission for guided tours at 10:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m., as the museum participates in the tenth annual Museum Day, presented by Smithsonian magazine. Museum Day involves hundreds of participating museums around the country and allows for one day only the free-admission policy of the Smithsonian's Washington, D.C.-based properties to be emulated throughout America.

"Museum Day offers a great opportunity to take a tour of the Oberlin Heritage Center or to visit another participating museum" said Pat Murphy, the Heritage Center's Executive Director. "Exploring a museum is an ideal way to spend the day as a family, learn something new, and have a lot of fun together."

The Heritage Center's "Upstairs/Downstairs – Small Town, Big Stories" guided tour includes three beautifully preserved historic buildings that serve as backdrop to stories of everyday people doing extraordinary things ever since the college and town were founded in 1833. Visitors learn about the Underground Railroad and abolition, student life, women's history, the development of aluminum, decorative arts, and much more. Free parking for the Heritage Center is available at 20 West Vine Street.

Attendees must present an official Museum Day Admission Card downloadable at www.Smithsonianmag.com/museumday, which provides free entry for two people to participating institutions. The Museum Day website also provides listings and links to more than 1,000 participating museum sites throughout the nation.

The award-winning Oberlin Heritage Center is located 35 miles southwest of Cleveland in Lorain County, Ohio. The organization is accredited by the American Alliance of Museums and certified by the Ohio Association of Non-Profit Organization's Standards for Excellence program.
