This Tudor Revival house includes a brick, steeply-pitched gable within a larger, steeply-pitched stucco gable. These gables are at the front/south facade of the house. An exterior chimney is to the right of the gables; the chimney has been covered with stucco. At the far right side of the first story, a 6/1 window is double hung. Within the stucco gable, an arched window is divided into several lights. Within the brick gable is a door with a large oval window, and a wood storm door with wood muntins. Brick steps with stone caps lead up to the stoop in front of the door; the stairs are at the west side of the stoop. The west elevation has a pair of 8/1 double hung windows at the right. The exterior of the first story is wood clapboard, while the gable is covered in stucco. The gable has two 6/1 double hung windows. A dormer with a steeply-pitched gabled roof at the far left has a small 6/6 window. An addition at the far left is comprised of brick. The addition is one story and juts out to the west, with a small 6/1 double hung window facing south, and two 6/1 double hung windows in the west-facing gable. At the first story of the east elevation, three 6/1 double hung continued...
