42. Further Description of Important Interior and Exterior Features (Continued on Reverse if Necessary)

This house is a Four over Four Colonial Revival with a painted brick exterior. The central entry has six molded wood panels, sidelights, and a fanlight. A brick arch follows the arch of the fanlight above the door, and a stone block marks the keystone. A single set of double doors is situated to the right of the door, while two sets are to the left. The far left bay of this elevation may be an addition or a two-story wing. The second story has continued...

42. Further Description of Important Interior and Exterior Features (Con't)

eight-over-eight windows with shutters in each bay. The window above the main entry is marked by sidelights. All windows have brick sills. In the roof, a pediment above the second story windows caps the bay containing the entry. The south elevation includes a screened-in/enclosed porch, which has decorative metal supports and a metal rail around the perimeter of its flat roof, indicating a second story porch. The remainder of the elevation is obscured. The north elevation features a projecting bay at the left, with four-over-six windows. The second story double hung windows have shutters, and the gable features a circular vent. A one-story hyphen with a door connects the house to the garage, which faces north.

43. History and Significance (Con't)

Ralph Myers Contracting Corporation. By 1970, Polly Bradshaw was again listed as the occupant (City Directory). According to local historian Dick Lothrup, the Bradshaws owned the house, but lived in Texas & rented the house; after the death of Dr. Bradshaw, Polly moved back to the house. The next known occupants were Andrew and Helen J. Supers; they lived here as early as 1989 (Property Card). Andrew, who owned Andy Super’s Insurance and Real Estate, located at 27 & 29 S. Main Street, passed away in 1990.
